PRAISES FOR GROUNDBREAKING STORYTELLING

"Truly a man of the world gifted with a prose style that sings, sings, sings! I am reading with admiration and pride in my acquaintance with a writer who is as candid as he, as insightful and engaging."

—Sidney Offit, NY Literary Lion & Authors Guild President

"It is a splendid book that personalizes the pre and post Berlin wall and the post Nazi attitude towards gays in Germany. By all means read this book – it is an eye-opening experience about Cold War Berlin before and after German Reunification. AND it is an excellent novel!

—Grady Harp, Amazon Top 100 Reviewer

"A fascinating look at a time, place and lifestyle that you don't have to be gay to appreciate. I especially enjoyed Levy's quirky writing style, which frequently omits determiners, pronouns and prepositions, which usually seem necessary, but here their absence creates a sense of light and open space for the narrative and its characters to move through. A bold, sensitive reminder of the importance of human connection. Sincerely recommended."

—J Brown, NY-based Blogger

"The book not only…answers many questions regarding the Division of Germany but it raises new suspicions, questions relationships, and entertains."

—Sarah-Jayne Windbridge-France, GoodReads Contributor

"Couldn't put this book down. Fascinating place and time. Unexpected ending. As a straight man I related to the emotions."

—Robert Klein, Amazon Reader Comment

A theory of gravitation cannot claim legitimacy, unless it can explain the puzzling motion of the moon. Newton realized this and made considerable effort to explain the observed anomalies. Einstein, with his extensive set of advanced mathematical equations comprising general relativity, never attempted to solve this important problem.

In his Memoirs of the Life, Writings, and Discoveries of Sir Isaac Newton, David Brewster relates Newton's remark to Edmond Halley that the theory of the moon made his head ache and kept him awake so often that he would think of it no more. Lunar theory has caused headaches to numerous luminaries of later dates including D'Alembert, Clairaut, Euler, Lagrange, Laplace, Delaunay, Hill, Brown, and Eckert. In 1994 Martin Gutzwiller presented a paper at the American Institute of Physics Conference in Williamsburg, Virginia entitled: "Moon-Earth-Sun: The Oldest, Best Known, but Least Understood Three Body Problem."

The new, correct equation for gravitation force, presented in the author's previous book Gravitational Force of the Sun, the invention of the atomic clock, the advent of lunar laser-ranging technique, the availability of computers, of scientific programmable calculators, of software for plotting and statistical calculations, have made the work presented in this book possible.

The Brainstem Brainwaves of Atman-Brahman

The Synthesis of Science and Spirituality

—Sutapas Bhattacharya

Published by: GYAN PUBLISHING HOUSE

This remarkable book undermines both the Physicalist-Materialist ontology of Science which imagines Consciousness to be a latecomer in material evolution as well the Theistic mythology of most religions which imagine a man-like God distinct from Nature and Humanity. It also resolves definitively the central problems of Eastern and Western philosophy.

It makes fools of many of the most famous Western scientists and philosophers who have tried to reduce Consciousness and Spirituality to fit in with their Materialist preconceptions using magical notions such as 'Emergence'. It explores the 'Politics of Knowledge' exposing how Western academics and New Agers continue to peddle White Supremacist myths which conflate 'European' with 'Scientific' and give false credit to 'Ancient Greeks' and modern Westerners for Indian inventions. It shows how Western scholars of Religion fear the threat of a Universal Spiritual Philosophy based on Hindu-Buddhist NonDualism and thus peddle false myths denying a common core Universal Mysticism (or 'Perennial Philosophy') that underlies the myths of seemingly divergent religious traditions. It also shows how the metaphysical interpretation of Quantum Theory leads to the same Transcendental Reality & Nonlocal Wave Structure underlying Matter (and the so-called 'Laws of Physics') revealed by Yoga.

The Author: Sutapas Bhattacharya (www.sutapas.com) was born in India in 1964 but has lived in London since 1967. In 1986 he graduated with a First in Molecular Biology (London University) with prizes for top student in Biology. Having published a metaphysical paper arguing for Panpsychism in 1983, his real ambition was to explain Consciousness as Science could not do so. In 1994 he identified the physical correlate of the Divine Light (a.k.a. Pure Consciousness, Atman, Godhead etc.) with the brainwaves of the Reticular Activating System. This epoch-making discovery undermines both the Physicalist-Materialist ontology of Science as well as all Theistic religions. It also resolves definitively the central problems of Eastern and Western philosophy; i.e. the real meaning of Mystical Union and the Ontological Status of Consciousness. His 1999 book showed how the physical phenomena of Science as well as Consciousness and mystical phenomena, inexplicable to Physicalist science, can be integrated by grounding Science in a truly universal metaphysics based on Universal Consciousness and its energetic vibrations. It received remarkable plaudits from scholars familiar with Science-Mysticism interrelations (See quotes on page 3 of www.sutapas.com)

For the full evidence confirming RAS correlation see http://www.sutapas.com/Page_4.html

The Book: The Divine Light (Pure Consciousness) is central to Hinduism, Buddhism, Christianity, Islam/Sufism, Platonism/Neoplatonism, Gnosticism and Hermeticism. It is the Universal Spirit within us. With masses of evidence drawn from scholarly sources, this book demonstrates how the archetypal spiritual experiences underlying religious myths are explained scientifically based on the true scientific explanation of The Light and of enlightenment. This overwhelming evidence provides the 'Authority of Evidence' which, combined with rigorous argument, allows the author to repudiate famous Western thinkers including Nobel laureate scientists in regard to Consciousness and Spirituality. Dominant Western academic myths denying the possibility of unmediated, mystical knowledge of the Transcendental Realm underlying natural phenomena are undermined along with the West's false pretensions to Universality. In so doing the author exposes the Institutional Racism of Western Academia which peddles Eurocentric and White Supremacist myths about 'Ancient Greeks' and the History of Science and refuses to take seriously non-European metaphysics. In establishing the One True Ontology, not only does this book truly integrate Science and Spirituality, Eastern and Western philosophies etc. but it also demonstrates that 21st Century Science actually resembles Ancient Indian metaphysics rather than the invalid, Anthropocentric myths of 'Ancient Greek' and Modern Western philosophers.

ABOUT THE BOOK

In the waning days of Nazi Germany, two larcenous conspiracies collide tragically in a forgotten backwater of war-ravaged Germany, both plans sabotaged by their lone common participant. Four people die and four others simply disappear without a trace, though, clearly, not together. Also missing is a fortune in Nazi gold and artwork.

The obscure incident generates a cryptic memo which finds its way into the highest echelons of the Third Reich. Then, the Reich falls, the incident, the treasure and the memo all disappearing into history.

July, 1970. A quarter-century later, the memo resurfaces. And the killings begin again. Drawn unsuspecting into the carnage, the descendants know only that they must unravel the puzzle before one of them becomes the next victim.

But, the trail is cold and the search frustrating, each new revelation taking them further back in history and deeper into the bizarre world of the Third Reich. And looming before them is the danger zone, a fanatic cabal of SS survivors determined to find the answers first.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

A. E. Degnan spent 41 years in government service, including 22 years of active military service as a communications engineer. In addition to seven years as a technical writer and lecturer for Headquarters, US Army, Europe, he has written and instructed technical material at several US Army Training Centers and has lectured military students on oral and written communications skills for two major colleges. His interest in German military history, particularly World Wars I and II and the Nazi era, began with his first assignment to that country in 1972. He has since devoted much of his spare time to studying the causes and effects of German militarism in the 20th century, visiting many of its infamous sites and venues and assembling a diverse personal library of books and materials on the subject. In recent years, he has shifted his focus to the interaction between Jewish and non-Jewish populations in Germany as affected by the emergence of anti-Semitism during the Third Reich. He resides today in a small town in Germany with his German-born wife, herself the daughter of a WWII German soldier and POW. Surrounded by the echoes of those tragic years, he spends his time writing, researching and connecting the dots to further illuminate that bizarre and unforgettable period in history.

Subject: Fiction / General

ABOUT THE BOOK

An unforgettable story of hope, survival and coming-of-age, A Fisher of Slaves weaves together three narratives set in a grim episode of African history. The first story describes the horrors of the Atlantic slave trade through the eyes of Nathaniel, a boy serving as an apprentice in a slave ship and his coming of age in a time of great uncertainty. The second is centered on Elizabeth, Nathaniel's widowed mother and a rector's daughter who becomes entangled in the anti-slavery movement, and in doing so, attracts the attention of an ambitious curate who sees her as a very suitable clergyman's wife. The third story follows James Youle, the slave ship master, who falls in love with Elizabeth. In a series of riveting twists, these characters and their separate journeys will collide and culminate in a series of events that will change their lives forever.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

In 1942, at the age of 13, Dick Parsons joined the Royal Navy as a Cadet. He served in battleships, cruisers and destroyers, had two sea commands and has travelled widely. He got married in 1951 and has two sons. He and his first wife divorced in 1980. His second wife indulged his love of the sea and he bought Katy Mac, a yacht. His other interests include being church warden of St. Peter's, Petersfield, singing in a local choir, riding his bicycle, gardening and driving for the Petersfield Voluntary Care Group.

ABOUT THE BOOK

It is a hard world out there, and it is even harder when you lack the experience and try to face it all alone. You got to shape your life. The way you wanted to. Look at the moon, it's lonely; but it just can't stop shinning. Lost Frequencies reminds you that you only get lost to be found all over again. It is okay to get lost, to be flawed, to be mistaken, to be human. Perfection does not exist. You are only pursuing the shadow of you. You are flawed, and you are perfect that way.

LOVE APPLES

Melissa van Maasdyk

ISBN13: 978-1-4834-5288-3 (Trade Paperback)
Trade Paperback: $15.19
Pages: 314
Subject: Fiction / Contemporary Women

ABOUT THE BOOK

Why get married? London-based food writer Kate Richmond can conceive of no good reason. She's seen where it got her mother and so has written her own recipe for life, relishing her career, with men on the side — including a delicious love match in Daniel Price.

When Kate heads to Mauritius on an assignment, she's rising through the ranks at Be magazine like a sweet soufflé, and seems set to secure her dream job until a cyclone curdles her carefully laid plans for the bumper summer issue, aided by Be's conniving fashion director, Roberta Vilaino. With her job on the line, Kate will stop at nothing to get things back on track, shamelessly entangling others in her quest, including the irresistible Fai Li, but when she takes a step too far, she sets herself on a tempestuous course that will ultimately upturn some long-held beliefs.

A sensual read, suffused with descriptions of delectable food — plus recipes — Love Apples delves into love and lust, marriage and infidelity, and the question of why people continue to invest in a convention so prone to failure.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Melissa van Maasdyk has worked as a writer, sub-editor and editor on various magazines, including Elle Decoration in the UK, Marie Claire in South Africa, and Time Out in Bahrain, where she also wrote a travel guide to the kingdom. Food writing has featured prominently in her career, nurturing her passion for cooking, and adding flavour to Love Apples, which is her first novel. Melissa currently lives in Abu Dhabi with her husband.

About the Book

Former OSS spy Helias Doundoulakis looks back to his training in one of the key intelligence agencies in World War II, his experience in espionage and his remarkable metamorphosis from boy to man, man to soldier and from soldier to spy.

Imagine the suspense.
Imagine the adventure.
Imagine the victory.
It's all true!

Chased by the Gestapo from Crete, he is rescued by the SOE's Patrick Leigh Fermor, escaping to Egypt on a British torpedo boat. Due in part to his experience with the Special Operations Executive and his fluency in Greek, English and German, he was recruited by the Office of Strategic Services—an episode that would change his life forever. At 91, he recalls his story of survival, hope and, ultimately, victory.

Eye-opening and inspiring, Trained to be an OSS Spy is a story of real-life heroes doing extraordinary things in one of the most cataclysmic events in world history. This is more than a war memoir or an account of historical value—it is a true testament of the indomitable human spirit.

About the Author

After the war Helias Doundoulakis, became a civil engineer and inventor, holding the patent for the world's largest radio telescope. He is the author of two books published in Greek, the two books of "I Was Trained to be a Spy" and "My Unique Lifetime Association with Patrick Leigh Fermor." He lives with his wife of 62 years, Rita, in Freeport, N.Y. They have four children and 10 grandchildren.

Gabriella Gafni is an accomplished ghostwriter. She lives with her family in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Subject: Religion / General

ABOUT THE BOOK

The Hidden Revelation started out because of the author's own restlessness as a seeker and a person who has many questions about life and in life. It is about some of the major religions/cultures in the world and the way they are more alike than different. It is about how each one of us is searching for a power greater than ourselves and have a name for that power, yet with becoming familiar with other religions, we can learn to be more tolerant and peaceful. It is a way hopefully to educate and reduce some of the fears and misconceptions people have. It is just about how we are more alike than different and should strive to be more spiritual. This book uses a lot of facts but it is explained in a way that is simple and very easy to understand, while painting a very descriptive picture.

This book is about our similarities as people, why we should attempt to live in harmony, how to love and respect each other and why unity is better and how to be more tolerant of each other. Open mindedness is our strength.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Morson Livingston is someone with a very diverse background. He comes from a large family in India. While In India, at a very early age, he decided to dedicate his life to humanity and choose to become a Catholic priest. He studied and earned himself three master's degrees in Psychology, Sociology, and Theology. He helped to build many schools and churches and taught at numerous universities in India and was fortunate to be able to travel extensively throughout the country and the world at large. He later migrated to the USA.

After sometime he left the position at the church and enrolled to become a Chaplain Captain in the US Army. He had assignments abroad and unfortunately, had to leave the military after having mission/military related injuries. He went on to serve in hospitals and the Federal Bureau of Prison systems. But his injury was real life changing for him. He eventually left the Catholic Church and lived life as a civilian.

He is always passionate to help people and is a true servant in many respects. He was often told by many of his colleagues and well-wishers that he should write a book and that was a motivator to write this book. His wish is that people can become more loving, more peaceful, and more tolerant.

About the Book

In Kalishandra, the city of lost travellers, the city in the abyss, darkness has form. In the mist that rises periodically from cracks between the cobblestones, it has life. Melt-mist, the shaper, drifts along empty streets, welling into deep, choking pools in forgotten courtyards. It breaks in ephemeral smoke waves upon the stark stone walls of towers, which protrude above its curling tendrils like strangely envisioned nightmares. These bleak, inhospitable eyries are the lairs of dark and terrible wizards, beneath whose hard and stony glare Kalishandra shifts. Streets change. Walls stand where before there was but empty space. Courtyards once remembered fade into obscurity. Old things disappear, are misplaced; here a statue, there an ornamental fish pond. Even older things return. The smell of a river long thought lost - blood upon the cobbles. It continues. . .

I Believe

Garth Hodnett

ISBN13: 978-1-4990-9605-7 (Trade Paperback)
ISBN13: 978-1-4990-9604-0 (eBook)
Trade Paperback: $23.28
(eBook): $4.99
Pages: 178
Subject: Religion / Christian Life / General

About the Book

The Apostles Creed is one of the earliest summaries of the Christian faith, and is accepted by most forms of Christianity. It is a simple statement of 12 beliefs – each central to Christianity. Each statement begins with: "I believe" and each of the 12 statements is the summary of a certain belief.

I Believe, translated by Garth Hodnett, is an important contribution to understanding the meaning of Christianity. Written in easy to understand, but never superficial, language, this engaging book is for anyone who wants to gain a deeper understanding of Christian thought.

About the Author

Garth Daniel Hodnett was born in Johannesburg, South Africa on 24 December 1968. He attended Christian Brothers Collage in Boksburg, a Catholic, boys-only, school. He and his parents went to the Baptist church. He found Christianity to be vaguely unsatisfactory. After school he moved on to study at the University of the Witwatersrand: psychology, philosophy and world religions, searching for the meaning of life. At this time he was fortunate enough to meet Prof. Ben Engelbrecht, a former student of Van Ruler, who introduced him to Van Ruler's work. Almost immediately he knew that he had found the truth (or it had found him). He studied Van Ruler's theology in his Honour's and Master's degree at Wits, and continued in his Th.D. at the University of Stellenbosch.

DEATH THREATS FROM BRITISH PETROLEUM

& Life Beyond The Grave

Henry Wells Sullivan

ISBN13: 978-1-4567-5826-4 (Trade Paperback)
ISBN13: 978-1-4567-5828-8 (Hardback)
Trade Paperback: $14.03
Hardback: $24.59
Pages: 180
Subject: Poetry / General

ABOUT THE BOOK

Inspired in 2010 by the Deepwater Horizon oil spill – and his late wife's lifelong crusade to preserve Earth's environment – Sullivan mined the death in his marriage and the death of marine life in the Gulf of Mexico for expression. It will appeal to any husband who has lost a dearly beloved to cancer and is still in the process of grieving her. As a mixture of elegy and requiem, the verses give unique voice to the lingering emotions of loss and devastation, while at the same time vividly summoning up the loved one's presence and haunting memory, albeit beyond the grave. Indeed, in these poems the living and the dead continue to converse with one another and to debate life's mysteries.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Henry Wells Sullivan was educated at Oxford and Harvard. He now teaches at Tulane University in New Orleans. His books of poetry include a bilingual edition of The Poems of Gustavo Adolfo Bécquer (2002) and further translations from the Spanish in The New Laurel Review (2005). Currently he is preparing for publication a major retrospective anthology The Collected Poems of Henry Wells Sullivan, 1960-2010.

After the Bunker

Ty Onsloe

ISBN13: 9781585009572 (Trade Paperback)
Trade Paperback: $10.95
Pages: 240
Subject: Fiction / Espionage

About the Book

After the Bunker is a Swiftesque word cartoon nightmare of Adolf Hitler. Metamorphosed and on the goose step through an enigmatic subterranean tunnel prison, the Reichsmen of the "Fourth Reich" seek out more Jews to blame and harm.

The Reichsmen venture through a long Jewish history, meeting Biblical icons of the faith, and every prosecutor of it as well. The Fuhrer and his Reichsmen are offended and persecuted by everyone, from Gorgugh the Neanderthal to "Yossif of the Onion Domes." To their horror they discover that there are no "Aryans" and that the Fourth Reich has been Jewish all along.

This is a tour-de-force that turns establishment politics, history, and religion on its head. Yet many suppressed truths concerning "victims," "victors," and the "defeated," are cleverly revealed After the Bunker.

About the Author

A Doctor of Theology and history buff, Ty Onsloe continues to lambast 'political thuggery' and 'situation spirituality' and their many 'unwitting accomplices.' To maintain his unique spirituality, Ty does his writing inside a diving bell off the New Jersey coast-at the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean.

MANAGEMENT DISEASES AND DISORDERS

How to Identify and Treat Dysfunctional Managerial Behavior

Steven A. Danley and Peter Hughes PhD

ISBN13: 978-1-4834-5456-6 (Trade Paperback)
ISBN13: 978-1-4834-5457-3 (Hardback)
Trade Paperback: $8.99
eBook: $8.99
Pages: 250
Subject: Business/Economics

ABOUT THE BOOK

You can find almanacs, textbooks, and manuals to identify bodily diseases and disorders, but what about the maladies affecting your workplace?

Organizational “insiders” Steven A. Danley and Dr. Peter Hughes explore the most common dysfunctions preventing managers from promoting healthy, vibrant, and sustainable workplaces in this field manual written in the form of a medical encyclopedia.

They identify toxic behaviors and cultures such as “managerial addiction,” which is identified by fixations on fame, power, money, adulation, and territory; “lack of shame,” which is the inability or diminished capacity of a manager/executive to feel embarrassment, disgrace, or ignominy for unscrupulous actions; and “inadequate knowledge of line operations,” which is defined by an inattention to and/or insufficient knowledge of daily operations.

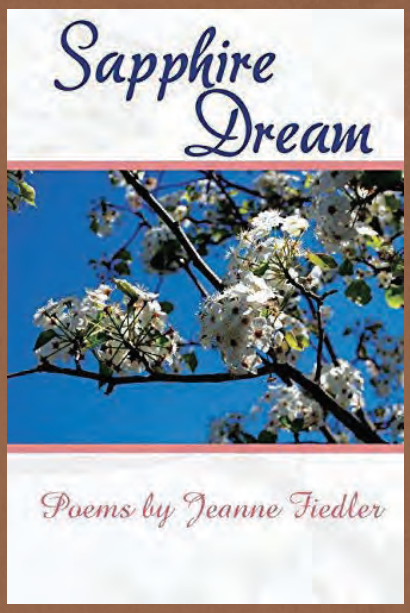
Sapphire Dream

Jeanne Fiedler



From her long hikes in the forest to the vivid dreamland she envisions, this book is a compassionate answer to grief, pain and separateness. Author Jeanne Fiedler shares her vision of a future world with no hate or violence in Sapphire Dream, a series of poems and poetic meditations with love, harmony, beauty and joy.

In this eclectic poetry book, the author's heart delves deep into her psyche to heal herself and others who read it, bringing forth an answer to fears and anxieties concerning humanity and the earth and a powerful message of life and hope. There are poems about children, environment, nature, spirituality, and more. It's full of imagination and ideas for everyone, taking readers to a transcendent place, where many probably haven't been there yet. She intends to uplift and enchant the readers with her meditative, deep and philosophical poetry, using creative images and metaphors so it's easily understood, leaving the readers satisfied and enlightened.

Author Jeanne Fiedler has published several books, too, that are sure to delight young and adult readers alike. Over the Golden Horizon is her journey or exodus to mental health and healing. Soaring is a mix of poems celebrating her life, struggles, traumas, ideas, joy, and love. Morning Light is a poetic compilation of sensory images, feelings, and perceptions she feels as she communes with the wonder of nature and seasons. The Reign of the Deer is a story that explores Native American beliefs and teaches children about kindness to animals. Lillybelle is about an adorable, spunky, and loving cat who loves and cares her family that children and cat lovers will surely enjoy. Preschool Poems for Princesses and Princes is a poetry book for younger children who are learning to read and write, which teaches language and literacy in a new and challenging way. My Rainbow is All One Color is a creative book with colored fonts and rhyming verses that teaches children about art, science, social studies, and more.

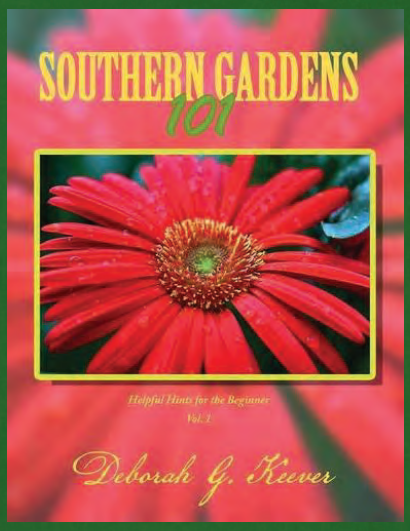
Southern Gardens 101

Helpful Hints for the Beginner

Deborah Keever

Keever's Passion for Nature Radiates from Her Books
Author shares tips and facts on southern gardens and arthropods in her literature



Appreciating nature and science is what author Deborah Keever hopes to inspire in every reader with the publication of her two books. She instills the love and learning the basics of creating beautiful southern gardens in Southern Gardens 101; while she piques the young readers' interest with her compilation of her detailed photographs and scientific facts of garden spiders in Argiope Aurantia.

In Southern Gardens 101, the author shares some helpful tips and hints for those who have already started or who are still beginning to make their own gardens. She invites everyone, especially the novice gardeners, to start planning and growing their gardens. In this book, they will learn the basics of creating and enjoying fresh and healthy Southern gardens. They will learn the size of the bloom or height of the plant; the type of soil requirements and how to amend the soil; where and how to plant them; and how to care for each plant. Moreover, they will be able to identify and treat most disease and pests that affect each plant.

In Argiope Aurantia, which means "garden spiders", she writes alongside the photographs, some scientific and interesting facts describing the daily life of these human-friendly arthropods. This educational read serves as a photo-documentary of the Garden Spider in her natural habitat. Readers will get an up-close look at how they produce silk from their spinnerets sac and wrap their prey or prepare their web. The detailed photographs will show how they capture insects by wrapping them in pure silk emitted from their spinnerets – and eating them while waiting for their next victim. They are of no harm to humans but they kill and eat the insects that are a pest to humans.

About the Author
Deborah Keever, a retired Registered Nurse now, has time to enjoy nature photography. She is a self-taught amateur photographer. She and her husband Mike enjoy their children and six grandchildren in Raleigh, North Carolina.

What's Your (Analyst's) Diagnosis? Truth (or Fantasy)?: An Essay On Human Perception

Frank Elbert Davis, III, M.D., FACS

110 pages - ISBN-13: 978-0-8059-7459-1 - Price: Paperback $13.00

Does the subconscious mind really project something different from the conscious mind? Author Frank Elbert Davis, III, M.D., FACS, delves into the depths of human consciousness with this thought-provoking read, What's Your (Analyst's) Diagnosis? Truth (or Fantasy)?: An Essay On Human Perception.

Human perception of reality, and scientific advancement, is linked to the truthfulness of verbal and mathematical description(s) of real event(s). Human verbal and mathematical descriptions of reality reveal psychic reality of those persons projecting the descriptions and relate to prior real experiences or verbalizations of others.

With this book, the author presents some natural phenomena surrounding the realities and truths of a person's consciousness and perception of what is inside and what is surrounding him. It speaks of how the "free will" of human perception, or its absence, results from the truthfulness, or fantasy world conceptualization, of a primary relationship. The book also shows that the "Unified Field Theory of Charged Particle Relation(s) and Mass-Energy Transformation(s)" gives universal understanding of positive, and negative, realities of the universe and unifies, by truthful mathematical "identification", the three current theories of physics.

Readers will learn – or rediscover – the "Structural Development" of the "personality" as an "identification" process of the "self", as a being, apart from the genetic person. As Einstein said, it is "apart from humanity".

About the Author

A retired general surgeon, Frank Elbert Davis, III, M.D., FACS, received his A.B. in chemistry and M.D. in medicine from UNC Chapel Hill, 1969 and 1973. He is a retired member of the American College of Surgeons, the Southeastern Surgical Association, and the American Association for the Surgery of Trauma. Dr. Davis enjoys sailing and hunting. Black Warriors

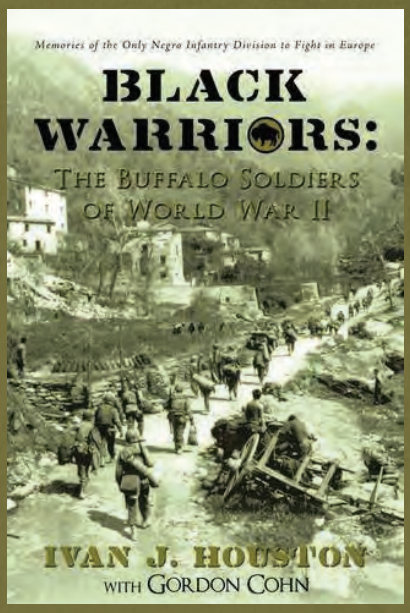
The Buffalo Soldiers of World War II

Ivan J. Houston

Get to know the only All-Negro Infantry Division during World War II
Author relives their combat team's experiences fighting not just the Nazi war but also against racism and prejudice.



Combat Team 370 would never forget the night of August 23, 1944, when they prepared to enter combat zone for the first time. It was not a training exercise; it was war. The regimental combat team consisted of 4,000 men, mostly southern Negroes of modest education and a small complement of college men, including author Ivan J. Houston, who was 19 years old then. In this book, Black Warriors: The Buffalo Soldiers of World War II, the author shares his recollection of their service, drawn from a minute-by-minute journal which records the unit's activities compiled by the author during his deployment in Italy. These men were brothers in a segregated army, warring not only against the awesome power of the Nazi war machine but against racism and the widely held belief that they were not up to the task. Their achievements proved otherwise.

This account describes both the historic encounters and the achievements of his fellow black soldiers during this breakthrough period in American military history. It tells of how the Buffalo Soldiers fought alongside other American troops, including Japanese Americans and soldiers from Great Britain, Brazil, South Africa, and India.

Accented with photos and maps, this memoir provides a compelling, firsthand account of the segregated Buffalo Soldiers' experiences. Black Warriors: The Buffalo Soldiers of World War II is a memorable and invaluable chronicle of a time in U.S. military history that is largely unknown to this generation of Americans.

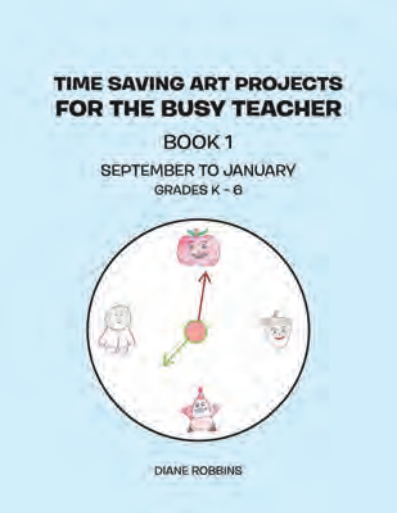
Time Saving Art Projects for the Busy Teacher

Diane Robbins

For Busy Teachers: Two Books of Time-Saving, Simple, Quick Art Projects for Kids
Author offers a resourceful and handy tool to help adults teach art to children



Author Diane Robbins understands the difficulty of teaching art to children. To help teachers, parents and guardians, the author prepares two sets of Time Saving Art Projects for the Busy Teacher. Books 1 and 2 will provide them with the basics and the starters needed for the young ones to embrace and love art. She hopes that this will also be a great help for art teachers affected by the budget cuts in schools and parents with limited financial resources.

This book helps classroom teachers teach art skills with a minimum amount of work by preparing and creating age-appropriate activities. In the first book, the author presents 20 art activities using the same set of basic patterns that can be used for projects from September to January. While Book 2 has another set of basic patterns that can be utilized for 20 different art activities from February to May/June. These projects are adaptable for grades K-6 children.

Handy, creative and easy to follow, Time Saving Art Projects for the Busy Teacher offers an efficient teaching tool to smoothly facilitate art projects in the classroom. It harnesses the students' creativity, and engages interest while significantly lessens the time and resources required to formulate new art activities day by day. The projects can also be used to reinforce many skills including following directions, measurement, matching, sorting, and eye-hand coordination.

About the Author
Diane Robbins grew up in Wheeling, West Virginia. She earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Elementary Education with a minor in Special Education from West Liberty State College, Master of Arts degree in Special Education from West Virginia University, and Computer Technology certification from Franciscan University of Steubenville. She taught for more than 38 years. She used art activities to help special needs students with eye-hand coordination skills, following directions, and measurement skills.

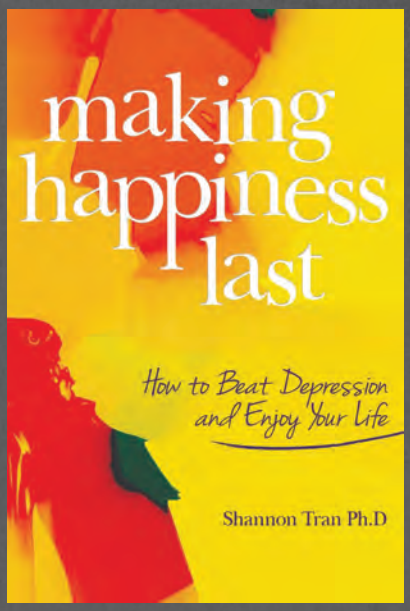
Making Happiness Last:

How to Beat Depression and Enjoy Your Life

Dr. Shannon Tran



Making Happiness Last: not just a matter of skill, but also of will. DR Shannon Tran discusses the most critical issue in overcoming depression: the willingness to change.

One out of four adults in America will experience some level of mental illness in a given year, with Depression being the most common. Many books have been written about depression and overcoming it. What DR Tran adds in this book is how to develop the will to change and make happiness last. This book, Making Happiness Last: How to Beat Depression and Enjoy Your Life, is designed to support people who want positive, lasting change by providing research-based strategies on overcoming depression and engaging readers through examples, worksheets, and practice exercises. More importantly, it shows the importance of having the "will," "grit," or "moxie" to succeed, and how you can develop and enhance your own.

Change is a choice. People must be willing to take responsibility for how they think, feel, and act to create a real difference in their life. Their beliefs attract and determine their experiences and perception of reality. In order to change their life and create lasting happiness, they have to replace limiting beliefs with empowering ones.

This book educates people on the fact that learning how to resist negative thinking patterns is not only a skill; it is also a matter of will. It addresses why willing to change is critical to lasting happiness. It takes people through a journey of self-transformation by helping them to take charge of their life through changing the common and not so common thinking and behavior patterns that contribute to depression. It inspires readers to take a more active role in how they live their life and educates them on the habits that are proven to generate happiness.

Whether it relates to business, sports, art, or any endeavor, history and everyday life are full of examples where skill, bolstered by will, have led to success. Making Happiness Last develops the will to be happy.

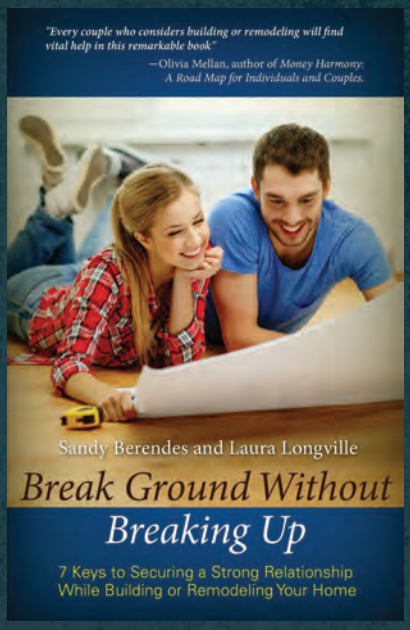
Break Ground Without Breaking Up

Sandy Berendes and Laura Longville



A go-to resource for couples taking on a home building project...
Authors share 7 keys to securing a strong relationship while building or remodeling the home.

Professional interior designer Sandy Berendes and life coach Laura Longville work together to create a blueprint for couples' homes and relationships. In their book, Break Ground Without Breaking Up, the authors combine their years of professional experiences and expertise to equip couples with a solid foundation of support, insights, and keys as they prepare to take on a daunting task – that of building or remodeling a home.

Sandy, with 25 years as a professional interior designer, offers design principals, insights, tips and steps on how to create a well-designed home. Laura, a therapist and life coach, offers guidance, preventative and reparative action steps to help couples manage the inevitable stress of home construction projects. Through this book, couples will realize that they have to be ready for their relationship to be remodeled along with their house.

A home construction project is undeniably an incredible experience for homeowners but it's also true that it can test the limits of even the happiest couples. With this book, it helps couples navigate the journey of home construction with as little stress and conflict as possible by sharing real-life stories. The authors will help couples achieve two significant goals: build a dream home or remodel a castle and keep the love in the relationship no matter what happens. The important lessons and tips in this book show readers that just like a house, a relationship is only as good as the framework that supports it.

About the Author

Sandy Berendes and Laura Longville live in Rapid City, South Dakota. Sandy has a long-standing busy career as a self-employed professional interior designer. Laura has an active career as a professional therapist and life coach. In 2012, Sandy was hired by Laura and her husband to help them with the interior design while they were building their dream home. Sandy and Laura eventually teamed up to write this book together to help couples through their stressful construction projects.

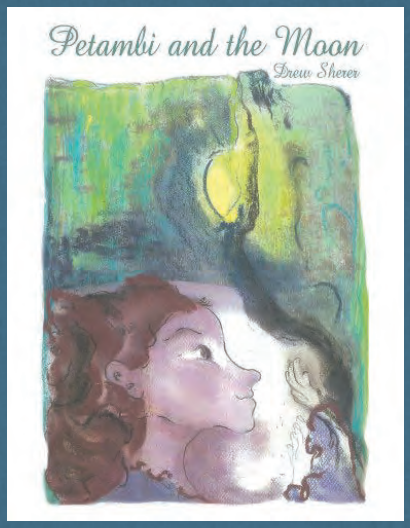
Petambi and the Moon

Drew Sherer



From author Drew Sherer comes a beautiful tale based on her personal story and relationship with Christ. In Petambi and the Moon, she hopes to bring inspiration to both adult and young readers. Through this engaging and vividly told story, readers will get to follow her journey from her young life to what and who she is now through the characters of Petambi and Bear.

This inspiring story is a celebration of God's faithfulness, as witnessed by the constant presence of the moon each night. As readers turn each page, they will explore the fragile yet hilarious world of teenage life, which vacillates between independence and childhood, along with a budding awareness of sexuality.

"I rewrote my life to understand how Christ moved within," says the author.

In the searching, stumbling heart of Petambi, there are heroic and ridiculous battles with first love, the book of Genesis, alcoholism, and the shock of death, that readers get to experience as they join her in this story. Readers will also meet Petambi's friend, Bear, who is invisible to all but her. Bear is fashioned after a Franciscan Friar, who was with the author for nine years; he was a clown and he could make children laugh.

The author hopes that Petambi and the Moon may bring everyone some inspiration and joy, just as much as she had when writing this.

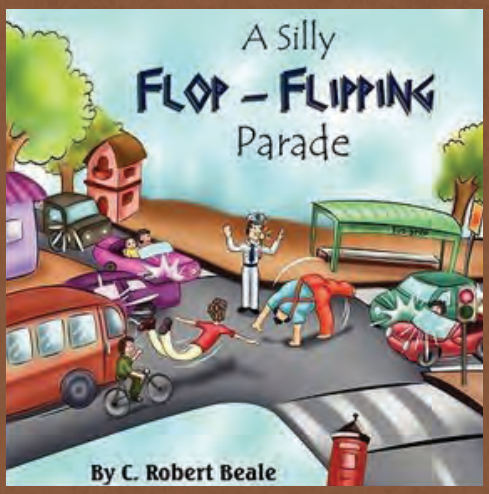
A Silly Flop-Flipping Parade

C. Robert Beale



An invitation for children to join a silly flop-flipping parade!
Author shares a charming picture storybook for young readers to enjoy and to learn some action words and alliteration.

Children are about to meet some new friends with the ensemble of interesting characters author C. Robert Beale has mustered in A Silly Flop-Flipping Parade. Not only will young readers enjoy the pictures and story, they will also learn action words and alliteration with each character. This is one parade they sure don't want to miss.

There's Flip, a man who loves to do flips – flip, flip, flip, who has a friend named Flop, who loves to flop – flop, flop, flop; so whenever they're together, they flip and flop all over town. One day, for some strange reason, Flip starts flopping and Flop starts flipping; and they go flop-flip, flop-flip, flop-flip everywhere.

When Carl the Cop sees Flip flopping and Flop flipping, he starts doing cartwheels. They encounter Hank the Handyman who does handstands; Bob the Barber bouncing a big beach ball; Jim the Junkman juggling junk; Steve the Salesman singing silly songs; and Tim the Trucker telling tall tales. This silly bunch then starts a flip-flopping, cartwheeling, hand-standing, ball-bouncing, junk-juggling, song-singing and storytelling parade.

They snarl traffic, make dogs bark, and cause people to stop and stare. But the parade goes on and on until they meet up with a sweet little boy named Christopher. Now, children are invited to join their parade and have lots of fun with Christopher and each amusing character.

About the Author

C. Robert Beale has been writing for many years. He wrote this story for his little boy many years ago; Christopher is now 34 years old. Beale is currently working on one novel "My Blood is on Your Hands". His other book "Blind Vector" is already available in the market. He lives in Plainville, MA.
